History

Middle Persian, also called Pahlavi or Pārsīg was an Iranian language spoken between the 3rd century B.C. to 7th C.E. It became an important language during the Sasanian Empire (224 – 651 C.E.).

Alphabet

Middle Persian was written with different writing systems along its history, with obvious linguistic differences: Pahlavi, Manichaean and Avestan.

This brief introduction describes the language using the Manichaean script, that was adapted to write a large number of documents, mainly religious and literary texts. These manuscripts came from central Asia, Turfan (China) and are dated between the 3rd and 7th century C.E.

Manichaean script

Manichaean alphabet is written from right to left (as Aramaic, Hebrew and Arabic) and uses only consonants, therefore is difficult to read.

However there are some letters that are used to show vowels:

- a) The ʾaleph is used to show initial /a, ā/ both short and long, also medial and final long /ā/. Short /a/ is unmarked.
- b) The ‘Y’ is used to indicate /e, ē/ and /i, ī/ both short and long.
- c) The ‘W’ is used to indicate /o, ō/ and /u, ū/ both short and long.
- d) The ʿayin (sometimes with Y) is also used to show /ē/ and /ī/.

Main features

Almost all consonants are connected to each other (initial-medial-final) and some of them have only one form. The following letters are unconnected or isolated:

ب B, چ Č, د D, ف F, گ G, ه H, ل L, م M, ن N, پ P, ك K, خ X, ر R, س S, ت T.

a) The ه H is written only at the end of a word and is not pronounced:

اماه amāh [ama:] 'we'

b) The ه H is not pronounced after a vowel, in closed syllables:

شهر šahr [šar] 'town'

c) The چ C is sometimes pronounced [z]:

پیموذن written: pymwcn, pronunciation: paymōzan 'clothes'

d) Several words can be written with ت T or ط, ظ ʾ, which is basically the same sound. Although the letter ʾ is not found in Middle Persian, is usually used as a variant of T in Manichaean texts.

Stress

Stress always falls on the last syllable:

	Transliteration	Transcription
پدر	pydr	[pida:r] 'father'
مادر	mʾdr	[mada:r] 'mother'
آسمان	ʾsmʾn	[asma:n] 'sky'

Morphology

Noun

Nouns have a singular and plural form and only two cases: direct (nominative) and oblique (genitive, dative, accusative). The singular is unmarked, the plural is formed by adding the suffix ان -ān. All family terms have the plural ending ان -ar in the direct case.

Examples:

Direct	Singular	Plural
پيد pid	'father'	پيدان pidar 'fathers'
مرد mard	'man'	مردان mard 'men'

Oblique	Singular	Plural
پيدان pidar	'father'	پيدانان pidarān 'fathers'
مردان mard	'man'	مردانان mardān 'men'
سگ sag	'dog'	سگان sagān 'dogs'

Personal pronouns

Personal pronouns have two forms, full and enclitic:

Full form (direct/oblique)	Enclitic form (oblique)
ان an 'I' (dir.)	من -(i)m 'me, my'
من man 'I, me, my' (obl.)
تو tō 'you, your'	تو -(i)t 'you, your'

օյն	ōy	'he/she, him/her, his/her'	ն-	-(i)š	'him/her/it, his/her'
դնն	amāh	'we, us, our'	նն-	-(i)mān	'us, our'
դննա	ašmāh	'you, your'	նհ-	-(i)tān	'you, your'
ննաօն	awēšān	'they, them, their'	նա-	-(i)šān	'them, their'

Possessive form

Possession is expressed by using the full or enclitic personal pronouns plus the noun. Enclitic pronouns are attached to adverbs, conjunctions and prepositions. When a word ends in a consonant, the vowel յ -i is inserted.

Full form		Enclitic form
մե ին	man pid	մե ն-	-m pid 'my father'
մե հ	tō pid	մե հ-	-t pid 'your father'
մե օյն	ōy pid	մե ն -	-š pid 'his/her father'
մե զնն	amāh pid	մե նն -	-mān pid 'our father'
մե զննա	ašmāh pid	մե նհ-	-tān pid 'your pl. father'
մե ննաօն	awēšān pid	մե նա-	-šān pid 'their father'

Possessive construction

There is no suffix to mark the genitive case. Generally the possessor is inflected in the oblique case and precedes the possessed noun:

𐭠𐭣𐭥 𐭥𐭥𐭥 mard nām 'the name of the man'

𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 𐭠𐭥𐭥𐭥 drayāb māhīg 'the fish of the sea'

𐭠𐭥𐭥 𐭥𐭥𐭥 pidar mānd 'the house of the father' or by adding the relative particle 𐭠 ī:

𐭥𐭥𐭥 𐭠 𐭠𐭣𐭥 nām ī mard 'the name of the man'

𐭠𐭥𐭥𐭥 𐭠 𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 māhīg ī drayāb 'the fish of the sea'

Adjectives

Adjectives precede the noun they qualify or the relative particle 𐭠 ī is used:

𐭥𐭥𐭥 𐭠𐭥𐭥 xūb mard 'good man'

𐭠𐭥𐭥 𐭠 𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥 mardān ī xūb 'good men'

Demonstrative pronouns

Demonstrative pronouns are placed before the noun:

Singular			Plural
'this'	𐭠𐭥	ēn	'these'	𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭠	imēšān
'that'	𐭠𐭥𐭥	ōy	'those'	𐭥𐭥𐭥𐭠𐭥𐭥	awēšān

Examples:

این مرد ēn mard 'this man'

آن زن ōy zan 'that woman'

این دست ēn dast 'this hand'

آن ده ōy deh 'that village'

Prepositions and postpositions

Some common prepositions/postpositions:

آ ō 'to'

در andar 'in, inside'

با pad 'in, to, at, by means of'

از / az 'from'

بر abar 'on, over'

زیر ēr 'under, below'

با abāg 'with, together'

نزد nazd 'near'

به rāy 'because, because of'

Examples:

آ این آمد ō šahr āmad 'He came to town'

pad šahr mānēd	pad šahr mānēd	'He dwells in town'
andar mānd	andar mānd	'inside the house'
abar ēn wēm	abar ēn wēm	'on this stone'
abāgiš pid	abāgiš pid	'with his father'
az drayāb	az drayāb	'from the sea'

Conjunctions

Some common conjunctions:

ud,	u-	(before enclitics)	'and'
ka,	ka	(before enclitics)	'when, if'
bēz			'but'

Interrogative pronouns and adverbs

Interrogative pronouns and adverbs are used in questions:

kē	kē	'who?' (interrogative and relative)
čē	čē	'what?'
kū	kū	'where?'
kay	kay	'when?'
čē rāy	čē rāy	'why?'

Examples:

آشمآه كه هده

ašmāh kē hēd 'Who are you all?'

آه چه كنه

tō čē kunē 'What are you doing?'

او برادرش كو ōy brād kū 'Where is his brother?'

آه كو شاه

tō kū šawē 'Where are you going?'

آه چه راه من چه شد هه

tō čē rāy šud hē 'Why did you go?'

آشمآه كه شاهان شاهان

awēšān mardān kē hēnd

'Who are those men?'

A simple question is made in the same way as a statement:

آه او شاهان آه آه

tō ō šar šawē

'You are going to town'

'Are you going to town?'

Relative particle

The relative particle آ ī is used in possessive construction, with adjectives and indicates the subject of a verb:

آه آه آه

nāmag ī rahīg

'the child's book'

آه آه آه

mardān ī xūb

'good men'

آه آه آه

mard ī-m dīd

'The man that I saw'

آه آه آه آه آه آه

zan ī pad ēn šahr mānēd

'The woman that lives in this town'

Verb

Verbs are conjugated for person and number. There are five main tenses in Middle Persian: present (also used for future actions), past, pluperfect, present perfect and past perfect. The infinitive ending is 𐭥𐭥𐭥-an, and present/past stems have different forms:

Infinitive	Present stem	Past stem	Meaning
𐭥𐭥𐭥	𐭥𐭥𐭥	𐭥𐭥𐭥
dīdan	wēn-	dīd	'to see'

The following is the conjugation of the verb 'to see' in the present, past and pluperfect. A transitive verb is in the passive voice in the past and pluperfect:

Suffixes		Present	Meaning

Sentence structure

Middle Persian is a SOV language (subject - object - verb). The main feature is the relationship between subject and object of transitive verbs in the present and past tense.

- a) Present tense: the verb is transitive and agrees with the subject.
subject (direct case) + object (oblique)

𐭌𐭕𐭕𐭕 𐭑𐭕 𐭕𐭕𐭕	mard	zan	wēnēd man	woman	he sees
	'The man sees the woman'
𐭕𐭕𐭕𐭕 𐭑𐭕 𐭕𐭕𐭕	mard	zan	wēnēnd men	woman	they see
	'The men see the woman'
𐭌𐭕𐭕𐭕 𐭑𐭕 𐭕𐭕𐭕	mard	man	wēnēd man	me	he sees
	'The man sees me'
𐭕𐭕𐭕𐭕 𐭑𐭕 𐭑𐭕	an	zan	wēnēm
	I	woman	I see
	'I see the woman'

- b) Past tense: the verb is intransitive and agrees with the object.
subject (oblique case) + object (direct)

𐭕𐭕𐭕 𐭑𐭕 𐭕𐭕𐭕	mard	zan	dīd
